

STILL

© Kurt Hentschläger, 2002

Series of Lambda photo prints on aluminum 125 x 270 cm / 49 x 106 inches each

courtesy Lia Rumma Gallery, Milano
www.gallerialiarumma.it

STILL is a reflection on wave patterns and frequency spectrums as a visual metaphor. The work examines the correlation between light intensity, color space and dynamics, as with extreme contrast shifts perceived in flickering light. Starting as a single frame, devoid of movement or action, the concept of each composition emerges from processing an image rather than building it. A series of layering steps loads each picture, giving them vibrancy and potential while remaining perfectly still.